Behavioural Policy

XtrAct's Behavioural Policy can fit quite neatly under one word:

RESPECT

1. Respect for Yourself
2. Respect for your peers
3. Respect for your teacher
4. Respect for the space
5. Respect for the XtrAct brand

Everyone - Teachers, students, parents, friends, family, and contractors – are all expected to behave with mutual respect.

Past experiences at XtrAct also demand that we highlight the following policy:

- BULLYING. Behaviour deemed as bullying will not be tolerated. Any accusations of bullying will be investigated. If these accusations are proven, our response will depend on the severity and duration of the behaviour. For example, a one off incident with no prior bullying behaviour would place a student on probation for the rest of the academic year. If the behaviour is repeated a discussion would ensue between XtrAct the student and students guardians, which may result in expulsion from the academy. In addition to this, any family members of XtrActors found to be bullying other students or families will be banned from XtrAct classes and events, and any sub-contractors found to be bullying students or families will be dismissed.
- Use of phones in class is not allowed without the express permission of the teacher and must be done under their teachers supervision. Nothing photographed or recorded during an XtrAct class or event is to be posted to any public domain without the written consent of XtrAct owner, Danielle Brame Whiting.
- The financial burden of destruction of property will be placed squarely on the shoulders of the offender and their guardians. We would also expect the student to make financial and behavioural amends, in order that they remain on as a student with XtrAct Drama Academy.
- When posting on any XtrAct Social media sites, or personal sites, about XtrAct, the brand name must be represented appropriately at all times. We will not accept posts that:
 - Are put up by either students or their parents that include photos of other students without written permission from the owner of XtrAct, Danielle Brame Whiting.
 - Photos that include obscene gestures or inappropriate dress
 - Videos that include foul language, obscene gesture, inappropriate dress or the defamation of any individual, business or community group/organisation
 - Comments that in anyway ridicule, bully or defame XtrAct and/or XtrAct students, their friends and family, or other businesses working with XtrAct

We reserve the right to add to this document if the need arises and remember,

Our Motto
